

6-Week Remote Job Search Plan to Land A 6-Figure Role

Week 1: Positioning + Research

Monday: Define your North Star

→ Get ultra-clear on role, salary, flexibility, and ideal work culture.

Example:

Target Role: Remote Product Manager

Salary Target: $120K+

Key Strengths: Stakeholder management, agile leadership, data-driven decision making

Tuesday: Rewrite your resume to reflect outcomes

→ Focus on impact and value. Think beyond duties.

Example:

Increased user retention by 20% through product enhancements.

Led 5 cross-functional teams to deliver projects 3 weeks early.

Wednesday: Optimize LinkedIn to attract remote-first companies

→ Your profile should scream “remote-ready.”

→ Headline + About section should highlight strengths and results.

Example:

Headline: Remote Product Manager | Agile Expert | Growth-Focused

About: Built and launched 3 products generating $5M+ revenue. Passionate about building user-first remote experiences.

Thursday: Build a high-quality target list of 20 companies

→ Use ChatGPT and DailyRemote to source companies where remote is the default, not the exception.

Example Prompt:

"Give me 20 remote-first companies hiring product managers."

Tip: DailyRemote has one of the best curated lists of remote-first opportunities across industries. Check their company lists and job board regularly.

Friday: Research company culture

→ Read blogs, LinkedIn posts, Glassdoor, and DailyRemote profiles.

Saturday: Weekly recap

→ Track progress:

1. Updated resume
2. Optimized LinkedIn
3. Identified 20 companies
4. Connected with 5 professionals

Sunday: Light scan of job boards

→ DailyRemote is your go-to here. Save 5 relevant jobs without applying yet.

Week 2: Connection > Application

Monday: Add value on LinkedIn

→ Comment on 5 relevant posts to build visibility in your niche.

Tuesday: DM 2 people per target company

→ Build relationships, don't pitch.

Example:

"Hi Sam, love your work at GitLab! Exploring PM roles, would appreciate hearing about your team."

Wednesday: Reach out to alumni/mutual connections

→ Higher response rate. Warm intros > cold apps.

Thursday: Follow up on initial DMs

→ Polite, thoughtful nudge.

Friday: Identify 5 top-fit open roles

→ DailyRemote is a fantastic resource. Look for companies that match your values, not just the title.

Saturday: Apply with referrals whenever possible

→ Referrals significantly boost your chances.

Sunday: Reflect on outreach

→ What messaging worked? Personal always beats mass.

Week 3: Interview Prep & Refine Pitch

Monday: Build your story bank (STAR format)

→ Prepare 5-7 strong stories.

Tuesday: Mock interviews with ChatGPT

→ Practice tough questions.

Wednesday: Record and review answers

→ Notice clarity, confidence, and delivery.

Thursday: Create a prep doc with key talking points

→ Career highlights, remote strengths, team collaboration stories.

Friday: Reconnect with earlier contacts

→ Keep relationships warm.

Saturday: Deep dive into repeated job description themes

→ Use insights from DailyRemote job posts — note trending skills in remote PM roles.

Sunday: Prepare for behavioral questions

→ ChatGPT can help you generate variations.

Week 4: Application Power Week

Monday: Apply to 5 roles with personalized cover letters.

Focus: fit, enthusiasm, and problem-solving.

→ Quality > quantity. Personalize everything.

Tuesday: Track applications and outreach in a spreadsheet.

→ Columns: role, company, date applied, contact, follow-up.

Wednesday: Follow up on older apps (5-7 days).

→ Email: 'Checking in on my application for [role]. Happy to provide more info.'

Thursday: Send connection request with context.

→ Show initiative and human touch.

Example:

"Just applied to PM role at Doist via DailyRemote—would love to connect and learn more about your team."

Friday: Apply for 3 stretch roles.
Aim slightly above current level to expand range.

Saturday: Engage on LinkedIn again.
Comments, reshare posts, add thoughts to trending topics.

Sunday: Rest and reflect.
→ Note learnings, update job tracker, and prepare for next week.

Week 5: Interviews & Value Delivery

Monday: Review company mission, products.
→ Prepare questions that show alignment.

Tuesday: Create a 30/60/90 plan for 1 company.
→ Show initiative and strategic thinking.

Wednesday: Conduct mock panel interview with ChatGPT.
→ Prompt: 'Simulate a panel interview for remote PM role at GitLab.'

Thursday: Deliver interview homework/prompt.
→ Go beyond—add a one-pager summary.

Friday: Send thank-you emails post-interviews.
Example: 'Enjoyed our chat—excited by your product vision.'

Saturday: Engage with new connections from interviews.
→ LinkedIn add + thoughtful message.

Sunday: Refine your pitch based on this week's interviews.
→ Update story bank with new examples.

Week 6: Offers, Negotiation, and Momentum

Monday: Prep for negotiation with salary benchmarks.
→ Use Levels.fyi, Glassdoor, and insights from your DailyRemote job listings.

Tuesday: Use ChatGPT for counteroffer drafting.
Prompt: 'Write a counter for $110K based on my remote PM experience.'

Wednesday: Follow up on warm leads from Week 2–4.
Example: 'Still exploring, curious if your team is hiring yet.'

Thursday: Accept or counter offers.
→ Focus on total value: salary, benefits, flexibility.

Friday: Celebrate small wins—interviews, growth.
→ Acknowledge how far you've come.

Saturday: Plan your start strong week (first 30 days).
→ Outline early wins to deliver.

Sunday: Share your story publicly (optional).
→ Inspire others with your journey.
LinkedIn post: 'After 6 weeks and 30+ convos, I landed a 6-figure remote role.'

Example:

"After 6 weeks, 30+ conversations, and a lot of learning, I'm thrilled to share that I've accepted a 6-figure remote role! Shoutout to DailyRemote for surfacing some great opportunities."
